RAGI EARHEAD PEST.

The ragi earhead Webbing Caterpillar Pest has appeared in parts of Mandya, Mysore, and Hassan Districts, on "Hein" Ragi stacks. The pest is in the initial stages and is likely to cause damage, if allowed to multiply. Early threshing will help very greatly in killing the pest and also in getting the full benefit of the good crop this year. The ragi cultivators of Mandya, Mysore and Hassan Districts are accordingly advised to undertake the threshing of the harvested ragi immediately and complete it in 2-3 weeks, without leaving it in stacks till the conventional season of February. In the interest of Grow More Food work, this must be treated as an emergency measure and the stacks threshed without further delay. At harvest time the crop must be examined for the insect attack and if infestation is present, the earheads must be dusted with "Gammexane" or "Hexyclan" and then stacked. The method of dusting and the insecticide may be had free of cost from the Agricultural Inspector of the Taluk.
